This Week's Program:

Rebekah Enoch of Freedom United

We are honored to welcome Rebekah Enoch, Program Manager at Freedom United, the world's largest community dedicated to ending human trafficking and modern slavery.

Rebekah Enoch became part of the Freedom United team when it joined hands with Human Trafficking Search in July 2023, having served as the HTS Program Director for the two years prior. She has over 20 years of experience leading teams and developing campaign strategies for nonprofits in the U.S. and Australia. As a seasoned leader on issues of human rights and modern slavery, Rebekah specializes in outreach, engagement and community building using strong storytelling skills throughout her work.

She holds a BA from San Francisco State University where she majored in International Relations and a Master of International Law from the University of Sydney. Rebekah is also currently a member of the Global Association of Human Trafficking Scholars and is a 2006 Truman Scholar.

One of Rebekah's fundamental values is that while the world is full of challenges and injustices, she always wants to be part of the team that tries. The team that tries to stop human caused climate change, the team that works to end global poverty and the team that helps end modern slavery. And while those dreams may not be realized today, she is dedicating her life to ensuring they might be realized tomorrow.

Join us to hear Rebekah share insights on how we can each be part of the fight.
